Hi Jackie - they all sound great - you can certainly take as many (up to 7 for the issue) as you can get and if we run out of space, we can move to the next issue. Here is the thing, not everyone will come through with the article even if they promise to do it and in some cases, one may not be well written.

On Zero Defects - I know very little about what Virginia Mason is doing but found this on the web

Zero-Defect Health Care | Virginia Mason Institute

Zero-defect health care is the realization of a lean health care system in which engaged health care leaders learn to put the patient first in all they do.

Have a Great Weekend!!!

I have a few ideas that I wanted to run by you before I approached willingness from anyone, although I always caveat with it must be approved and in line, but ask for willingness to write.

To consider the following:

Michelle Stephenson, COO (former CNO) of Lurie Children's Hospital

OR

Lisa Aurilio, CNO of Akron Children's Hospital and just won the Modern Healthcare Excellence Award for Diversity in Nursing

OR

Mary Dee Hacker, VP of Nursing and Inter-professional Research Children's Hospital of Los Angeles (also on Magnet Commission) And just won the Modern Healthcare Excellence Award for Senior-Level Executive Generation Y

TOPIC

Succession Planning

Enhancing nursing staff diversity

Succession planning or Retention of

The two that are solid yes's are:

David Z of course

Dr. Andrea Efre, DNP, ARNP, ANP-BC, FNP-C, CCRN dependence/

Ally Healthcare in Tampa (excellent speaker on street drugs also)

Leader to Watch

Challenges in identifying opiate use and withdrawal

Please give me your thoughts or any other wisdom....

Also, there is so much continued interest in "Driving to zero" can you think of an outstanding speaker that could address this continued journey?

Thanks so much!

Jackie
